

Computer services website

Make sure you have xampp installed on your local machine.

To use this project, unzip this file to any directory of your choice, after unzipping this file, you will see an sql file name UTAS.sql and the database name bears the same name mentioned above, start your xampp machine and open your php myadmin to create a database with this name or change the in .env file to any name of your choice, after this, import the sql file and navigate into the project directory, open your command prompt type php artisan serve to start the server.